

Burundi solar tracking system

Overview

This research project concerns the development of an intelligent solar tracker designed to optimize the yield of photovoltaic systems in Burundi, one of the countries in the equatorial region, characterized by high variability in solar irradiation due to clouds, humidity and.

GSOL Energy, in collaboration with UNDP and local partner Itco Solar Energy, delivered a grid-tied solar PV system to the UNDP country office in Bujumbura, Burundi. This project is part of the UNDP Greening Moonshot initiative, focused on reducing carbon emissions and promoting renewable energy.

capital of that country. This power station is the first grid-connected solar project deve he nation's energy system. It will strengthen the national grid supply and propel forward a promising future for the cou ndi's solar power station?

Another estimated 25-50 people were hired to operate the.

A solar tracker is a device use to direct solar PV modules toward the sun to emit a maximum amount of sunlight. Generally, these solar devices automatically change their orientation throughout the day to follow the sun's path across the to maximize solar energy capture. Solar trackers are usually.
